ODEEN DOMINGO

Odeen Domingo is the president and founding partner at CO+HOOTS, Phoenix's purpose-drive workspace. Ranked #4 coworking space in the nation by Inc.com, CO+HOOTS currently houses 280+ scaling entrepreneurs and small businesses and has been an integral role in creating hundreds of jobs locally. Odeen has helped his wife Jenny build CO+HOOTS into the #1 most innovative coworking space in the world. He speaks regularly on entrepreneurship and leadership as an ethnic minority, husband, father and former corporate cog. His mission is to provide access to networks, capital, technology, knowledge and circles of power to those who don't have the privilege of naturally possessing it.

At CO+HOOTS, Odeen nurtures and curates a community of local-minded and business-focused professionals who collaborate on projects, share resources and generate more successful businesses. From high level and partnership strategizing to on-the-ground grunt work, Odeen make sure CO+HOOTS continues to be a globally-recognized coworking space that has the largest collaborative coworking community in Arizona and a major driver of local economic development.

Odeen also co-founded nonprofit CO+HOOTS Foundation, sits on several committees of local nonprofits and serves as a mentor for young and experienced entrepreneurs. He transitioned to the entrepreneurship realm after his 14-year career as a content strategist and award-winning journalist at The Arizona Republic, Orange County Register and Los Angeles Times.
