

Program Description:

The CO+HOOTS Institute for Entrepreneurship provides students of Benedictine University Mesa with an immersive and hands-on experience through a combination of individual and team learning, mentorship from experienced entrepreneurs, community service, and internship opportunities with local businesses. Participants will learn how to identify the needs of the community, collaborate with others to achieve goals, develop and execute a marketing plan, and ultimately, launch a business. In addition to developing key skills in entrepreneurship, participants will practice skills to be successful in any career, such as: leadership, problem solving, critical thinking, effective communication, creativity, professional networking, and collaboration.

Eligibility:

- Be an admitted and matriculated student of Benedictine University Mesa
- Have and maintain a 2.0 cumulative GPA (from high school or current college/university)
- Submit a complete and accurate CIE application by June 30th
- Participate in a scheduled interview with Benedictine University staff during the summer

Application Materials:

1. Applicant Information (on Page 2)
2. Essay Questions (directions below)
3. Two Letters of Recommendation (directions below)
